

J2 TECHNICAL ARTICLE

Number 54

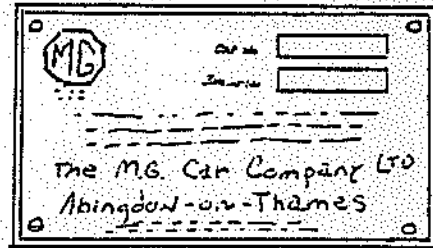

December 11, 1981

From Octagon Heaven

DATA PLATE POSITION ON THE BULK HEAD

The data plate, shown here on the right is a 3" x 4" plate and shows the engine number and car number in the upper right corner.

It is brass with black filled etched letters, the same as the later T-Series.

The data plate is located on the BULK HEAD (fire wall). It is found on the front (engine side) of the bulk head. It is positioned on the left side (passenger side). The exact location is below the voltage regulator, between the flywheel bell housing opening and the bulk head support bracket.

(This article is not confirmed)