WIRE HARNESS SUPPLIER

John Morris has found a company which will make custom wire harnesses using original type materials, either from your original rotted harness or will braid the cover over your new wires.

John says they can even supply cloth covered battery cables to length.

He has not tried them yet but their address is:

Narragansett Reproductions Company
P.O. Box 51
Woodville Road
Woodriver Junction, RI 02894

The English suppliers also sell wire harnesses. I have one but do not remember if it is cloth covered over plastic or just cloth covered. If I can ever get to my car I will check it out for myself!

I would strongly recommend that if you want to be a purist and have original cloth wires color coded to the original drawing. But for protection of your car, that you cover plastic covered wires with the cloth. I have know about too many car fires because of fraied cloth or oil soaked cloth.
